

George J. Daskalakis

Professor in Obstetrics- Gynecology- Fetomaternal and Perinatal Medicine, 1st Department of Obstetrics & Gynecology, National and Kapodistrian University of Athens, Medical School

Personal data: Born in 1964, in Athens, Greece.

Training: He was trained as an Obstetrician Gynecologist (1992-1996) in the 1st Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology, Alexandra Hospital. In 1997 he was a research fellow and honorary lecturer at the Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology of the King's College Hospital, University of London with Professor KH Nicolaides. In 2014 he received the subspeciality of "European Materno-Fetal and Perinatal Medicine Specialist" from the EBCOG/EAPM. He is Professor of Obstetrics Gynecology Fetomaternal and Perinatal Medicine in the National and Kapodistrian University of Athens, Alexandra Hospital.

Membership: At the national level he is a member of several bodies in the field of Obstetrics and Gynecology, Perinatal Medicine, Ultrasound and Fetal Medicine such as the Hellenic Society of Obstetrics and Gynecology, the Hellenic Society of Perinatal Medicine, the Hellenic Society of Prenatal Diagnosis and Fetal Therapy, the Hellenic Society of Ultrasound in Obstetrics and Gynecology, the Hellenic Society of Maternal Fetal Medicine, the Hellenic Society of Medical Studies. He is member of the Editorial Board of two Greek Medical Journals. He is member of the World Association of Perinatal Medicine, of the European association of perinatal medicine, of FIGO, of the International society of ultrasound in obstetrics and gynecology, of the Fetus as a Patient Society, of the Mediteranean Association of Ultrasound in Obstetrics and Gynecology and of the Fetal medicine foundation. He is the General Secretary of the Hellenic Society of Perinatal Medicine.