

Professor Stergios K. Doumouchtsis MSc, MPH, PhD, FRCOG

Consultant Obstetrician Gynaecologist and RCOG accredited subspecialist Urogynaecologist
Founder and Lead of CHORUS, An International Collaboration for Harmonising Outcomes, Research, and Standards in Urogynaecology and Women's Health

Clinical Affiliation:

Epsom & St Helier University Hospitals NHS Trust, London UK
(Consultant Obstetrician Gynaecologist and Urogynaecologist, Clinical Lead for Urogynaecology)

Academic Affiliations:

- Clinical Professor, Ross University, School of Medicine
- Associate Clinical Professor, American University of the Caribbean, School of Medicine
- Honorary Senior Lecturer, St George's University of London
- Visiting Professor, University of Athens, Medical School

Current roles in organisations and societies:

- RCOG Council Member. Elected Europe Members' and Fellows' representative (November 2020-)
- EBCOG Council Member. RCOG representative (November 2020-)
- RCOG Global Health Board Member. (November 2020-)
- ICS/IUGA Female Obstetric Pelvic Floor Disorders Working Group. Chairman (2017-)

Books editor:

- S.K. Doumouchtsis & S. Arulkumaran. Emergencies in Obstetrics and Gynaecology. An Oxford Handbook. Oxford University Press. 2016
- S. K. Doumouchtsis. Childbirth Trauma. Springer. 2016
- S. Arulkumaran, W Ledger, L. Denny & S.K. Doumouchtsis. Oxford Textbook of Obstetrics and Gynaecology, Oxford University Press. 2020

Other Scientific Contributions:

Peer reviewed publications >100

Conference presentations >100

Chapters in books >40

Invited speaker in conference sessions >40

External Grant Reviewer (NIHR, Wellbeing of Women, Netherlands Organisation for Health Research and Development)

Journals Scientific Editor - BJOG International (2011-2021), Pelviperineology Journal (2019-)

Educational roles as supervisor of undergraduate and postgraduate training